

Conference Organisation

Think Different Events

The eLearning Alliance Conference 2007 has been organised by Think Different Events with the support of the eLearning Alliance Scotland Board.

The Company

Think Different Events believe that when organisations consider having a conference or event they look to a middle/senior manager to drive it from inception through to completion. Most managers probably don't have the skills or experience and, more importantly, the time to develop and deliver a high quality event. Think Different Events project manage the event allowing the managers to concentrate on their own core responsibilities.

The company provides a range of conference and event management services to ensure that whatever the size of the event it is a success. These services include:

- Conference and event management, development and logistical organisation
- Event facilitation
- Roadshow development
- Management and organisation of training programmes

With our associates, we offer a range of complementary services - registration, evaluation, research, website design, marketing, etc. each designed to enhance the quality of experience gained by those attending.

As well as saving time and money, we combine professionalism, knowledge, creativity and experience to make your event a total success.